The Challenge

Until now, prospect researchers have only had searchable access to a small percentage of information about US foundations and their granting. Now Metasoft brings you FoundationSearch, a revolutionary new research resource dedicated to providing your organization with every funding opportunity available.

The Solution: FoundationSearch

FoundationSearch is the first fully searchable, online database of foundations for the serious prospect researcher, containing over 100,000 US foundations. It provides the specific information you need to approach the most qualified prospects with compelling reasons why your project fits their vision. Using FoundationSearch will help you meet your funding goals and fulfill your project objectives!

Benefits of FoundationSearch

FoundationSearch is an efficient and easy to use solution designed to help you find new and leverage existing opportunities for fundraising. Only FoundationSearch is:

- Comprehensive – No other resource provides the depth and range of funder information available in FoundationSearch.
- Efficient – Keyword searching allows users to quickly and easily locate grants by type, value, year, recipient, donor, and more.
- Innovative – FoundationSearch provides market leading features such as global funder searches, an integrated prospect management system (beta), and a director relationship mapping feature (beta).
- Responsive – Invaluable feedback from our clients helps our development team continually improve our products to best meet your fundraising research needs.

Key Features

Comprehensive Data

FoundationSearch includes the most up-to-date and relevant information available, enabling you to make better, more informed decisions. Information includes:

- Grants – Review specific granting activity trends and potential future opportunities in detailed charts that include granting year, giving and recipient state, granting category, grant size, and more.
- Foundations – View a wide range of foundation related data, which can illuminate giving trends related to specific sectors, or can reveal organizations as possible new or additional sources of funding. Data includes new foundation status, asset and income ranges, and geographic scope, as well as types of support, such as capital funding, annual campaigns, operating funds, program funds, and more.
- Form 990-PFs – Search the FoundationSearch database of 990-PFs from the past several years, using specific keywords, foundation names, or director names.

- Global Data – Search global data as well: FoundationSearch includes foundations from the US, Canada, the UK, and Australia, and more than 5.8 million grants worth over $340 billion in recent giving—making it the most wide-ranging research product available.

Advanced Search Capabilities

FoundationSearch includes additional search capabilities related to 990-PFs, such as fuzzy searching, stemming, and thesaurus functions, making FoundationSearch the most advanced and customizable search and funding research tool available online today.

Your searches can also be viewed in multiple formats, depending on what specific results you're looking for.

- Search results can be presented visually on an interactive map, which gives a quick, at-a-glance overview of granting or foundation activity, allowing users to quickly focus in on the most appropriate regions.
- Searches can also be presented in table or summary format, and easily sorted by different key fields such as foundation name, year, and state.
- Search results can also be saved online, printed, or exported to Excel or PDF.

Sophisticated Analysis and Reports

FoundationSearch provides sophisticated reports based on highly specific search criteria that you define. Some examples include:

- Charts that provide breakdowns of the total value of grants, by category, over time. By viewing such trends, you can better understand how much and how often specific foundations are giving to specific areas, and whether those trends have been changing over the years.
- Charts that provide the number of grants given by an organization to new versus returning recipients. By reviewing data such as this, you can better understand your chances of success with organizations you haven't applied to in the past.

Other charts and reports are also available, and are customizable to your specific requirements.

Free Customer Support

FoundationSearch delivers step-by-step tutorials and help on how to search, and our professional and responsive support team is always ready to assist, either by email or phone. And all of this support is included in your membership—there are no additional support fees to pay.
